SUMMARY REPORT

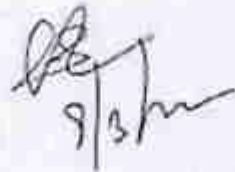

To create awareness about Women's health and dietary habits to Women's students jointly organized in Biochemistry department and Women's Empowerment cell.

In today's lifestyle when health related problems like obesity, blood pressure are so prevalent, a course in nutrition and dietetics can offer you an exciting career opportunity. Diet plays a major role in promotion of health and well being of a human being. This field has gained importance as people have become more conscious about the way they look, what they eat. Quality of life depends on the quality of food we eat. Dieticians or nutritionists help to promote good health by correcting the eating habits

If you are aiming to become a professional in this field then you should have an inborn interest in cooking and exploring various cuisines. Nutrition and dietetics is one subject which will help you explore how to design controlled diets. As a dietician you will be assisting people in planning their meals depending upon their age, sickness or work routine, occupational constraints, fitness and stress levels. To be successful in his field you should possess excellent communication skills, interest in food preparation and good analytical skills.

Dieticians should ensure that their clients should eat depending upon the nutritional requirements and needs. Dietician can help a person with health problems, such as health disease or diabetes, by assessing individual needs and creating a food plan that helps alleviate health problems.

Dieticians guide on healthy eating habits and make a personalized food plan that meets the patient's dietary restrictions, occupational constraints, fitness and stress levels. The nutritionist, on the other hand, studies the effect of food on human and the effect of heat, storage and other environmental factors on food (when it is cooked/served).

PROGRAMME SUMMARY

The department of Microbiology conducted an Guest lecture on Intellectual Property Rights by Dr. P.Ashokkumar, Asst. Professor, Dept. of Microbiology. The following aspects on IPR were discussed the session by the speaker.

Intellectual Property Rights giving an insight to International treaties, filing and dispute resolution mechanisms, mandates for member countries to the treaties and its impact on national IPR regime. He also elaborated on the various IP instruments and their filing procedures including IPR Laws & Practices in India. The rights of authors of literary and artistic works (such as books and other writings, musical compositions, paintings, sculpture, computer programs and films) are protected by copyright, for a minimum period of 50 years after the death of the author.

IPRs are now being used not only as a tool to protect creativity and generate revenue but also to build strategic alliances for socio-economic and technological growth. Accordingly, in order to foster the protection of innovations and creativity, the Intellectual Property Office under the Ministry of Commerce and Industry is dedicated to mobilize the use of such technological advancement for the economic development of the country.
